DETAILED ACTION

Claims 2-7, 9 and 11-12 are pending.

Response to Amendment

The amendment filed July 1, 2010, has been received and entered.

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of Group I, claims 2-7 and 11, in the reply filed on December 21, 2009, is acknowledged.

Claims 9 and 12 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected inventions, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on December 21, 2009.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000.

Art Unit: 1651

Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 2-7 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by newly cited Connolly et al (USP 7105336), cited on enclosed PTO-892 Form.

Claims are drawn to an ingestible product comprising Lactobacillus reuteri strain selected for its immunomodulating effects.

Connolly et al teach an ingestible product comprising Lactobacillus reuteri strain selected for its immunomodulating effects. col. 4, lines 30-35. The strain is selectable and useful as a food, confectionery or dairy product, oral drug for immune function of a patient and can be in the form of a tablet, note col. 6 lines 1-35. Strain ATCC 55730 is disclosed, note col. 4, line 6.

The claims are identical to the teachings and are, therefore, considered to be anticipated by the teachings therein.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

Art Unit: 1651

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 2, 3, 4, 5 and 7 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-2, 5 and 6 of copending Application No. 11/123,330. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims are both drawn to products having improved immune function in mammals and the products contain the same lactic acid bacteria, Lactobacillus reuteri.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

The claims are discussed above.

Copending claims are drawn to products for oral administration and nutritional products comprising Lactobacillus reuteri.

The claims of the instant case only differ from copending claims in the scope of the claimed subject matter because they both require products containing the same bacteria.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the claimed invention was made to provide for the pending claim products based upon a reading of the copending claims which teach similar products capable of improved immune function in mammals containing the same Lactobacillus reuteri.

Clearly one of skill would have been motivated by the copending claims to provide for the claimed products of the instant case. Thus, the claims are rendered prima facie obvious over the copending claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed July 1, 2010, have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The argument that there are two different sets of physiological and biochemical criteria for which to distinguish the instant claims over the copending claims does not change the fact that the same strain can inherently possess all of these properties whether they are claimed in the instant case or not because they have the same parent strain. Also the Office is not equipped to test for the biochemical characteristics, therefore, the rejection is sustained.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

No claims are allowed.
